

In-silico design does not validate a structural variant; a negative PCR/WGS result requires measured assay sensitivity.